

Character Designer: a window you can use to create and change character formats and store them in the Character Catalog.

When you place the mouse cursor in different fields, tool tips display additional information.

Custom pop-ups are better than tool tips as you can control all properties, including text font, size, colors (text/background) and location. With custom pop-ups, you may also highlight the activating area upon entering it.